Inaugurated in February 2017, the Moody Center for the Arts at Rice University is a state-of-the-art, non-collecting institution dedicated to multidisciplinary collaboration among the arts, sciences and humanities. The 50,000 square foot facility, designed by acclaimed Los Angeles-based architect Michael Maltzan, serves as an experimental platform for creating and presenting works in all disciplines, a flexible teaching space that encourages new modes of making and a forum for creative partnerships with visiting national and international artists.

The Moody is free and open to the public year round.

Proceeds from A Dinner for the Moody support a multifaceted platform of art exhibitions, idea-rich public programs and workshops, and multimedia theater and dance productions.
